

Health Compliance Department

The last thing any restaurant wants to see is the dreaded Health inspector walking in the door. Your mind starts to race. Is there hot water? When did we last see a rodent? What are my dish machine temps? Maybe you will get off with a warning and few days to comply. Maybe they lock to door and put your restaurant's name in the newspaper. Now is not the time to search the phone book for help.

Tech-24's Health Compliance Department is standing by to correct any and all health department citations. Many times over the years, our technicians have been on site and repairing the issues before the inspector can even finish the paperwork. Tech-24 has a great relationship with the local Health code authorities. From working with us in the past they know the Tech-24 name means the issues will be resolved and in the required timeframe.

No hot water? Tech-24 stocks many different types of water heaters in electric and gas models for same day replacement if required even on a weekend.

Are rodents a problem? Tech-24 can repair all your structural deficiencies to keep the critters out. With same day service the norm and not the exception, one call is all it takes to get you back up and running.
